Fiber Optic Cable Splicing Equipment Price Chart

Overview

Fusion splicer,Fiber optic splicer,Factory PriceA ribbon fusion splicer is a specialized fiber optic fusion splicer designed to splice multiple fibers simu.

Key Takeaways

Fiber optic splicing equipment prices range from approximately $500 for basic fusion splicers to over $10,000 for high-precision, fully automatic models. Price Ranges by Equipment TypeEntry-Level Fusion Splicers: Basic models suitable for small-scale or beginner use typically cost $500–$1,500. These machines offer core alignment, automatic fiber detection, and standard splice loss performance (≤0.

05 dB) and are ideal for FTTH deployments or fieldwork.

Mid-

Range Fusion Splicers: Professional-grade splicers with faster splice times (6–30 seconds), multi-language support, and robust field performance are priced around $2,000–$5,000. These often include better battery life, environmental protection (IP52+), and compatibility with single-mode, multimode, and dispersion-shifted fibers.

High-

End / Laboratory-Grade Splicers: Fully automatic, ultra-low loss splicers designed for data centers or specialized applications can exceed $8,000–$12,000. These models provide precision alignment, high return loss (>60 dB), and advanced software integration for splice data logging. Mechanical Splicers and Accessories: Mechanical splicing tools, cleavers, protection sleeves, and splice-on connectors range from $50–$500 depending on quality and brand.

Additional Considerations

Consumables and Maintenance: Electrodes, splice sleeves, and calibration services add to the total cost of ownership. Frequent use may require replacement electrodes ($50–$150 per set) and protective sleeves ($0. 10–$1 per sleeve),.

Supplier Options: Reputable suppliers include Corning, Sumitomo, AFL, 3M, and COMWAY. Online marketplaces like Alibaba and Splicermarket offer competitive factory prices, often with bundled kits including cleavers, OTDRs, and cleaning tools. Operational Efficiency: When evaluating cost, consider splice success rate (>99%), average splice time (
